The finder of the 7th volume of a fine octavo edition of Hume's History of England, bound in purple morocco, will confer a favor by leaving it at this office.

THE STATE FAIR.—The Speed Rings which are to be opened during the State Fair, next week, will be of great value and interest to our stock raisers. The premiums have been raised by voluntary contributions, and the money raised by the citizens is evinced by this movement. The Louisville Fair dues $70 for stallions, three years old and under; the Colt Hounds $100 for four years, four years old upward; the Lexington Fair dues $75 for mares, four years old and upward; the St. Charles Restaurant $50 for mares, three years old and under; Mr. Shockey $75 for geldings, four years old and upward, all to trot in harness, and Walker's Exchange gives $50 for a pacing ring for horses, mares, and geldings. In all cases, two or more entries are required to make a speed ring. The daily awards and the time will not be officially declared until the last day of the State Fair, and when they are proclaimed, there will be a grand display of all the competing stock in the amphitheatre, which will be an interesting sight.

There will be sales of stock at midday, daily, by Marshal Alfred, in the amphitheatre, and we think that will have the effect to bring a large number of valuable animals on the ground.

On the third day of the Fair, Thursday, the 17th inst., there will be an additional ring introduced for mares or geldings driven to rockways. This has been done at the request of men who feel a pride in their teams and turnouts, and wish to display them, and it will doubtless be one of the most attractive features of the Fair.

Power Hall deserves the particular attention of manufacturers, as it has been placed in fine order for the reception of all competing articles. The machinery will be driven by about twenty-five horse-power, and the shaft is prepared on the same extensive scale as was arranged for the United States Fair in 1857. The Superintendent, Mr. Wm. Lennox, will be found on the Fair Grounds during the day, ready to locate articles for all who may seek property to make entries. We hope to see liberal contributions to this department, which always adds so much to the interest of our agricultural exhibitions.

Floral Hall, to which Mr. Young, the zealous pomologist, has volunteered his services, has been beautifully arranged, and everything is ready for the anticipated display of flowers in pots and bouquets, dairy and pastry products, the yields of orchard and fruit gardens, vegetables, grapes, grains and seeds, paintings, needle-work, domestic manufactures, and all the variety which generally make Floral Hall a great centre of attraction during fair week.

LOCUISVILLE THEATRE.—The domestic drama of Madeline, or the Foundling of Paris, in which Miss Charlotte Thompson appears this evening, is of thrilling interest and most admirably constructed.

As the light-headed wife of the Faubourg, as the suffering wife and despairing mother, and in the intense agony of the circumstances which compel her to place her babe in the trembling hospital to save its life, because she has been rejected by her husband for hoarded means to procure medical treatment, there is room for the exhibition of great dramatic powers, and Miss T. is every way qualified to develop them.

WOOD'S THEATRE.—Bohemian Girl has held possession of the stage on account of the extreme popularity of its ballads and the melodic richness of its choruses. While sweet music captivates the soul, these gems must stimulate and they will always appeal with irresistible force to those who are undiscerning in operatic taste.

The pre-eminence of the Holman Children in all their varied characters never shows to better advantage than in the Bohemian Girl, which will be produced this evening for the third time. They are attracting excellent houses and meet deserved success.

THE LAWS OF CONGRESS.—Little, Brown, & Co., of Boston, have just issued, in one volume of fourteen hundred octavo pages, the twelfth volume of their uniform series of the "United States Statutes at Large." This volume embraces the period from 1859 to 1863, giving official copies of the laws passed by Congress, the treaties confirmed, and the proclamations issued by Presidents Buchanan and Lincoln, down to March 30, 1863. The volume is edited by Mr. George P.桑特, and an excellent index adds greatly to its value as a book of reference.

MAMMOTH CAVE.—We publish elsewhere a letter from a correspondent at Mammoth Cave. The disturbances upon the Nashville Road had for some time placed the Cave beyond the reach of tourists, but travellers now visit this popular place of resort with ease and perfect safety. The hotel is kept in most princely style by Mr. E. K. Owles, who welcomes his visitors with all the warmth of a true Kentuckian and entertains them with the unlimited hospitality of a Virginian of the olden time.

A man named Garrett has been in jail here for the murder of Hopewell, near Newbernville, in August, 1861. He was taken up and tried in Bullitt county at the time of the trial, but was released on $5,000 bail. The Grand Jury of that county, however, found a true bill here for his keeping. He was yesterday taken out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus, and the evidence in the case partially cleared. It will probably be concluded to-day.

ELDER A. C. DIXON, formerly of Nashville, is said to be connected with the editorial department of the Baptist Banner, at Atlanta, Georgia.

Mr. Simmons, the sculptor, has completed a statue in clay of the late Gen. Berry, of Rockland, Me., for the family of the deceased hero.
